

Valentin Forensics

Crime Scene Training and Reconstruction Services

Expert Testimony Cases

Connecticut v. Michaud (January 2012) HHB -CR09-0248851-T

Bloodstain pattern interpretation in manslaughter-(defense stipulated to report prior to appearance)

Connecticut v. Gomes (April 2013) UWY -CR12-0412679

Testimony on gunshot wound and associated bloodstain evidence

Connecticut v. Holmes (October 2013) CR-11-315555

Testimony on gunshot trajectories and other crime scene issues in homicide

Connecticut v. Bell (November 2013) CR12-0145546-S

Reconstruction of crime scene with animation based on location and characterization of bloodstain patterns

Reese v. County of Sacramento et. al. (May 2015) 2:13-cv-00559-JAM-DAD

Provided deposition testimony to rebut blood pattern analysis
(US District Court, Eastern District, Sacramento CA)

Commonwealth of Massachusetts v. Carrington (November 2015) 2013-11028

Examination of crime scene efforts and investigative results in homicide

People of the State of New York v. Leah Cuevas (December 2015) 01732-2014

Expert testimony on crime scene investigation methods and bloodstain evidence

Commonwealth of Massachusetts v. Carrington (April 2016) 2013-11028 (retrial)

Examination of all crime scene efforts and investigative results in homicide (first trial resulted in hung jury)

Connecticut v. Fortin (April 2017) CR15-0108036-T

Evaluation of scene documentation, injuries and bloodstains to determine sequence of events in homicide

Kevin Jackson v. Warden (September 2017) CV15-4007247

Evaluation of scene photographs and bloodstain evidence to evaluate witness statements and attorney arguments at trial (Connecticut)

Connecticut v. Keco (June 2018) CR-15-0435482-T

Evaluation of crime scene and interview techniques in domestic homicide

Donald Cole v. Warden (June 2018) CV-10-4003502-S

Evaluation of crime scene documentation and forensic testing for distance determination in homicide involving shotgun (Connecticut)

U.S. v. Harold Cook (August 2018) Case No. 3:17CR65 (AVC)

Approved to be retained as an expert in crime scene investigation and bloodstain pattern analysis. Testimony not required at trial (District of Connecticut).

Channey et. al. v. Marriott International (August 2018) U.S District Court Washington DC 1:16-CV-02213-EGS

Deposition testimony related to spoliation of evidence and rebuttal of defense expert conclusions.

People of the State of New York v. Evan Wald (March 2019) Indictment 2399/17

Testimony on bloodstain patterns and sufficiency of crime scene investigation.

Breda v. Keroack (March 2019) U.S District Court District of Connecticut 3:17-cv-00393 (WWE) Deposition testimony related to scene documentation and evidence I collected after police arrested plaintiff at her residence.

Jones, Marquis v. Warden (June 2019) CV13-4005405

Evaluation of scene photographs and bloodstain evidence to evaluate witness statements and attorney arguments at trial (Connecticut)

Garmon vs. SP Lincoln Fields and Master Security Company (March 2020) 2015-22639 CA 01

Evaluation of crime scene documentation and expert testimony related to shooter location in an unsolved homicide (Florida)